Environmental Policy

Last Updated August 2025

As stewards of the ecosystems it works within, Arch & Godfrey takes its commitment to the environment seriously. As such:

- We do not harm marine bodies (including oceans, mangroves, or freshwater sources) in any operations under our control.
- We seek to bring the best solutions available to reduce our carbon footprint, including implementing effective resource waste management programs in any operations under our control – in line with industry best practices.
- We lead by example, with our head office attaining LEED Platinum certification in 2015 – in recognition of its environmentally-responsible design and operations, and the award for Best Office Development in the Cayman Islands at the 2015 International Property Awards.
